Peace

Peace—

Peace—

If we only had Peace
What a wonderful world this would be.
No war among nations,
No strife among men,
But gladness on land and on sea.

Peace on earth—
Good will among men.

All nations may share
This treasure so rare
When greed and selfishness end.

1936

At the end of this busy year, I am very happy to congratulate the students of the Corona Junior High School on the success of the year which is just closing. The year is successful because in it you have accomplished so much that is worth while. You have formed habits of industry; you have developed desirable traits of character; you have acquired new ideals and ambitions. Then I feel that this passing year is a prediction of better years to come.

I wish you much happiness and success.

Thanks!

I wish to express my thanks to the members of the editorial staff for their cooperation and to pay tribute to Mrs. Sage, our faculty adviser, for her unceasing efforts in making our annual a success.

In presenting LA CORONA to my class I sincerely hope that, in the future, it will recall to them happy days spent in Corona Junior High.

ANNE McDONALD.

Goals

Why do most boys and girls show a definite interest in one particular field or another? Why—because they are attracted to that field in which they find pleasure in creating. So grows the idea of a goal. In progressing step by step toward a chosen goal a great satisfaction is found.

My interest has always been in physical education and I hope, someday, to be a director in this field.

Here physical fitness is a requirement. The school does its part in aiding our physical development. It gives us opportunity to share in sports such as tennis, football, basket ball, bad minton and other activities.

Another requirement is good sportsmanship. Thus Physical Education aids in character development.

It seems to me physical education, under a wise and efficient coach should help us physically, mentally, and morally to face the important problems of this ever changing world.

JESUS CERVANTES.

1935 - 1936

On September tenth, nineteen hundred and thirty-six, three hundred and seventeen students entered the doors of our Corona Junior High School. Here they expected to spend the year working and playing.

In the first quarter the most thrilling event was the Nomination Assembly followed by the Student Body Election. The officers chosen were: Edward Rasmussen, president; Frank Jameson, vice president; Eileen Jewell, secretary; James Pearson, yell leader; Edwina Osburn, song leader. The stratosphere balloon contest for the Parent Teacher Association Drive was also very exciting. This was won by the seventh grade.

The second quarter a Christmas operetta directed by Mr. Farmer, was given by the members of the Glee Clubs. Edwina Osburn, Anne McDonald, Martha Knauer and Sylvia Robertson played important parts.

The most outstanding events in the 3rd quarter were the Annual Program in which Jesus Cervantes revealed the future of many students and the spelling matches in which Phyllis Szabo was the winner. Other contest winners were Sheldon Terrell and Helen Murray, poster; Martin Renfro and Adale Linschied, prohibition essays; Ruth Henderson, citizenship essay.

In the fourth quarter a series of Amateur Hours were given by seventh grade classes. The Annual Exhibit and Program were enjoyed by students, parents and friends. Another contest closed in which the lovely dress, made by Alice Newton, was judged the best of all.

I have not mentioned the Traffic Officers. Here Santos Garcia won honors—nor the many ribbons won by the track team—nor the scholarship society.

So this year closes. One hundred and seventy-two students have completed the work of the eighth grade. To you we say—Carry on!

CHARLOTTE FRIESTED.

What is Nature's Theme?

What is Nature's theme
Which everywhere doth gleam?
I'll answer that—
'Tis a theme of rarest beauty.

Now it is our daily duty
To preserve this charming beauty—
To play our part,
Inspired by this theme.

What is Nature's theme
Which everywhere doth gleam?
I'll answer that—
'Tis the handiwork of God.

BRYANT JACKSON.

Spring Song

Have you heard the birds
singing in the trees,

have you seen the flowers
springing from the earth,

have you heard the children
singing in the park,

have you seen the grass
springing from the ground,

have you seen the leaves
growing very green,

have you heard the insects
chirping here and there,

have you seen the colors
unfolding everywhere?

Thus does Nature herald
the coming of the Spring.

HELEN MURRAY.

The Mountains For Me

I have been to the ocean,
I have been to the sea,
But when choosing a home,
In the mountains 'twill be.

For when on the desert,
Or down by the sea,
Ever the mountains
Are calling to me.
